Subject No. 327.
Water-supply to Malvalli.
Mr. Govindappa.

Summary of discussion.—At Malvalli, Kunur katte is the only drinking water pond. It depends mainly upon rain for its water-supply: when rains fail, great difficulty is experienced from want of water. The tank of Marehalli is about a mile and a half from Kunur katte. On account of the construction of Markal tank, which is just above the Marehalli tank, the water-supply to Kunur tank has been cut off. As represented in previous meetings, a channel from Ramaswami nala may be made to the Marehalli tank. This will ensure proper supply of water to the rice lands under wet cultivation. Marehalli tank being near to Kunur katte, water may be let into the katte by means of pipes to supply the town of Malvalli with water.

Reply of Government.—Referred to the President of the Municipalities, Mysore District.
